Re: Additional Exhibits:

- i) Cop-Out to Warden Streeval with his denial of Request for Compassionate Release
- ii) Original denial for Compassionate Release
- iii) Character Reference Letters from Inmates

Dear Honorable Judge Korman:

With this letter, please find enclosed: a copy of the latest cop-out submitted to Warden Streeval, requesting that he file a compassionate release on my behalf (his denial is also wrote on the bottom of the cop-out; there is a one-page attachment to the Cop-Out also); a copy of Warden Streeval's original denial of my request for Compassionate Release; and a few Character Reference Letters from inmates here at USP (copies of).

Sir, so that the Court may be aware, I submitted a complete copy of my Compassionate Release Motion that is now before you to Warden Streeval (along with my request for Compassionate Release); I wanted to give him a chance to read over my proposed submission and then to act on his own behalf. By the Wardens response/denial, I don't believe he read or considered my motion; eitherway, his denial is an exhaustion of my remedy process and so I now humbly present you with my request for Compassionate Release.

I pray for your due consideration.

Sincerely,

Luis Ramos

Warden Streeval Sir: Sir, to be sure, even with statutory changes changes to the Compassionate Release Statutes, Title 18 Section 3582, and EVEN with Congress' clear intent that all possible parties should utilize the Compassionate Release statute --when good cause presents itself--it is a provision rarely utilized. Please see Attachment further discussing Mr. Ramos' 'extraordinary and compelling' actions, that of saving Correctional Officer Luciano's life

INMATE REQUEST TO STAFF MEMBER

NAME: RAMOS, Luis Angel

DATE OF REQUEST: 06-25-2021

REGISTER NUMBER: 70000-053

UNIT: F

This is in response to your request for a Compassionate Release/Reduction in Sentence (RIS) pursuant to Program Statement 5050.50 and 18 USC 3582(c) (1) (A) and/or 4205(g). You request a RIS and indicate you are eligible due to extraordinary or compelling circumstances.

In accordance with Program Statement 5050.50, Compassionate Release/Reduction in Sentence: Procedures for Implementation of 18 USC 3582(c) (1) (A) and 4205(g); Section 2, Requests Based on Initiation of Request-Extraordinary or Compelling Circumstances. You have been assessed using the factors outlined in Section 2. You are serving an LIFE sentence for Conspiracy Racketeering; Conspiracy to Commit Robbery; and Brandishing a Firearm.

Due to the circumstances of your offense and information you provided, we do not believe your circumstances are extraordinary or compelling. Therefore, your request for a Compassionate Release/RIS is denied. Granting your request would minimize the severity of your offense.

J. C. Streeval, Warden

7-1-21
Date

Extraordinary and Compelling--rare and unique--circumstances, validating a Warden's initiation of a Compassionate Release to the District Court, have not been completely defined and have been left to independent evaluation/discretion. A truly extraordinary and compelling reason, one that a Warden would feel confident in utilizing, well, must be of such a 'compelling' nature, that no one would question it; and I pray that you will find the following is one such reason.

Warden, I pray that I may be the first inmate, since the change in the Compassionate Release statute, that you actually decide to seek release for. If you take up my cause, you have a chance to further the Compassionate Release of one of your inmates, for one of the most 'extraordinary and compelling reasons' possible: the saving of a correctional officer's life.

Just a few days ago, I finally received a correspondence from Correctional Officer Luciano, a Memorandum/Affidavit that details the actions I took that fateful day in 2008 to save his life; he affirms that I saved him, as he bled out, from assured death.

Along with that extraordinary reason, I also have detailed in my motion a request to consider my medical conditions--Cancer at the top of the list. Combined, the extraordinary actions of saving Officer Luciano's life and my medical conditions should be considered in a motion for compassionate release--if anyone is to be considered at all.

Warden, I would ask that you read a copy of my drafted Compassionate Release motion and consider, if all I say you find true and factual, filing a motion on my behalf. The court's seemingly expect Wardens accross the land to utilize the statute to file in these rare cases--and I would argue my case can be no rarer.

In filing on my behalf, mostly because of my heroic deed in saving Officer Luciano's life, you would be furthering future inmates to lead more honorable and integral lives, especially in the face of honorable consideration for time off and/or release.

I thank you for your due consideration in this matter.

Honorable Judge Edward R. Korman
U.S.D.C. Eastern District of New York
225 Cadman Plaza East
Brooklyn, NY 11201

Dear Judge Korman:

Your Honor, in my limited time spent incarcerated--approximately ten years--I have never felt as compelled as I do now to speak on another inmate's behalf. It is with these strong feelings, concerning Mr. Ramos and his situation, that I respectfully ask that you consider my words.

I have now known Mr. Ramos for, well, at least six years. We have lived in the same unit for that entire time. He is a very respectful and considerate person in the context of the prison community; he carries himself in a way that--the few of us that do stay out of the way and are seeking a more enlightened path--do; he is like minded and like goal orientated, and that is a positive and likable trait.

Unfortunately, Mr. Ramos carries a burden that most of us in here are not weighed down by; it is common knowledge that Mr. Ramos was involved in helping save a correctional officer's life; it is a shame that such an action is deplored and frowned upon throughout prison communities alike, but that is the truth; it is a wonder in this day and age that even as a 'society of prisoners' we have not evolved very far. Suffice it to say, Mr. Ramos has few friends, but I am happy and glad to say that I am one and to speak out for him.

Mr. Ramos has always been very respectful, to all that I have seen him interact with--inmates and staff alike. He has been an orderly for a very long time in our unit and goes out of his way to make sure that our unit is very clean--he has done his part to make sure that Covid-19 doesn't get its grip on those in our unit.

I know Mr. Ramos has an extended family that all care for him very much. And being that he is ostracized from the main of the prison community, it seems that his family out there, their condition and welfare, are of most concerns to him.

Friend that I am to Mr. Ramos, I do know for a fact that he never anticipated using his 'heroic' deed, in saving that correctional officer's life, to attempt to free himself. And in fact, it wasn't until the First Step Act was passed and the amendments took place to the Compassionate Release protocols, when someone brought it to his attention that he should file.

Your Honor, I could think of no better reason to grant an inmate a Compassionate Release, than for the 'heroic' deed of saving someone's life...especially a correctional officer at that. I am completely confident in saying that if you were to grant Mr. Ramos a chance at freedom, that you would not be disappointed; that he would take that freedom and spend it wisely with his family and friends and being a positive member of the community.

Thank you for your sincere consideration of these words,

Steven Falsey

Character Letter for LUIS RAMOS

Dear Honorable Judge:

I write you as concerns inmate Luis Ramos and his motion for compassionate release. I have worked along side inmate Ramos for a few years now. We both are orderlies in F-Unit. We both clean the showers everyday, making sure that they are sanitized and usable.

Sir, me and inmate Ramos are similar in many respects. I am a devout Christian and really just stay to myself. That means that I really only associate with a select few people. I really just try to stay out trouble and away from all the negativity. In all respects, inmate Ramos is just the same: he talks to only a few certain people, is devoutly religious, is very respectful and considerate, and helps others whenever the opportunity arises.

Sir, living in a fish bowl as us inmates do, I would just like to say that we all get to see the very best and worst of each other on a daily basis. Over the time that I have known inmate Luis Ramos, I can honestly say that his worst is sometimes better some of these inmates very best. He is happy and joyful and always smiling; he always has kind words to say to those in passing. I don't think I have seen inmate Ramos have a bad day, in totality, only except I can recall when he was diagnosed with cancer; and I must say, even in the face of a cancer diagnosis, and then the many surgeries that he has been plagued with, inmate Ramos has stood tall and hasn't let such factors weigh him down.

Sir, Luis Ramos is a good man and I totally believe would be an asset to the community at large. I hope that you decided to give him a compassionate release so that he can prove that true.

I pray you have a blessed day.

Sincerely,

Kevin Lamont Anderson

MEMORANDUM

To: Whom it may concern

FROM: Correction Officer Steven Luciano

SUBJECT: Formerly Incarcerated Individual Ramos , Louis Din #96A1439

DATE: 11/17/2021

My Name is Correction Officer Steven Luciano. I have been working at Sing Sing Correctional Facility located 354 Hunter Street Ossining, NY 10562 since 2006. I am submitting this letter to recognize the actions of formerly Incarcerated Individual Ramos, Louis Din# 961439 on September 5, 2008 where I suffered a life-threatening injury.

On September 5, 2008, I was assigned to work as Housing Block-B Escort that evening. At approximately 8:30PM, while conducting a final security round, I closed a glass single pane window section, that was in the open position in classroom #107 in the school building. While closing it, my right hand & arm went straight through the glass which I later was informed it punctured an artery. I started to lose a lot of blood and started feeling dizzy and faint. My whole arm started to turn dark blue. I had a personal radio alarm on my person, but I was unable to activate it.

I exited the classroom and looked down the hallway (the whole floor was cleared due to the announcement of the school run on the go back, mostly all the I/I* had left and gone to their housing units) I shouted for help, and two I/I* came from the stairwell, which one of them was Mr. Ramos, Louis. I told both to get me Correction Officer J. Davis who was the School Officer in Charge which he was one flight up the staircase. Mr. Ramos, Louis stayed with me and provided aid until Correction Officer J. Davis arrived and call in a medical emergency via radio.

I was the rushed to the facility ER, then transferred to outside hospital via ambulance (Westchester Medical Center) for further medical attention. The doctors at the hospital told me I was lucky to be alive due to all the blood I lost. If I didn't get the assistance from both I/I* that day, I would not be writing this letter. I will be forever grateful, and I thank Mr. Ramos, Louis for the heroic actions that day. Please contact me at the facility if any further information is needed.

I/I = Incarcerated Individual*

Respectfully Submitted,

Steven Luciano
